

Jen and Vince's hot dog date!

Gee, that Vince knows how to take a girl out in style! On Oct. 13, he brought Jen to the ultimate Chicago dive: the Wieners Circle, a hot dog joint next to a pawnshop. While they ate, Vince had his hand on her lower back. "They were friendly and laid-back," says employee Tonya Darville.

Jen and Vince both ordered chardogs (hot dogs charred over a grill) and split an order of french fries.

"They ordered at the window like everybody else," says Wieners worker Tonya Darville. They ate lunch at the counter and left after about 45 minutes.
